THE CLASS OF 1967

PROCTORIAN

Proctor
High School
Proctor, Vermont.

*... how high those stairs,
how tired when the top you
reach ... your goals attained,
your future, you downward-backward look and wonder how the top you ever made ...*

COACH LAWSON

*always ready to help ... always the cigar ... always the sincerity in his voice ... on the field or off, he shows you what you're doing wrong and helps you to correct it ... his patience, his energy, and his spirit have inspired us to give our best
in whatever we attempt ...
because of his service to Proctor High we, the class of
"67," proudly dedicate our yearbook to "Coach" Tom Lawson*

MARY HURHULA

IN MEMORIAM

life, living—two words so different in meaning . . . to her life was the most precious thing one could own, and living meant packing each minute to its fullest—running, talking, dancing, laughing . . . the gap that is left in our lives by her death can be only partially filled by the memories we have of our MARY

... for years gone by you've walked the same old streets to the same old school . . . day after day, class after class, you've trudged those halls—upstairs, downstairs, this locker is mine can't you smell, and that's my desk see there is my name—until you are so sure your feet can do without your eyes what now comes naturally . . .

... yet somehow no day is quite the same ... each day there is something new, something to be held if only for a short time before it must become something of the past, something to be cherished but not to be had ...

The Student Council is the voice and median of the student body. Candy sales for student activities, sponsor of the school orphan, the forum for student gripes, the coordinator of the donkey basketball game--all are projects undertaken by the Student Council. With its staunch and avid supporter and sponsor, Mr. Abrahamson, the Council functions as one of the schools highly active and well-supported organizations.

P H S's orphan, 11-year-old Robert Bushnell, adopted through the Christian Children's Organization in Arizona.

Effort did bring results!

Mr. "A" congratulate's the high candy salesman: 1st prize, Mary Kamuda; 2nd prize, Joyce Kimball; 3rd prize, Ernie Kish; 4th prize, Linda Shortsleeve.

$114.47 was collected by the UNICEF marchers on Halloween night--and that's a lot of pennies.

Prince Simon will put all the necessary muscles into play.

"The Ugly Duckling" was Proctor's entry this year for the District One-Act Play Contest. Miss Gallus, the imaginative director, combined talent from the freshman through senior classes to make a great production.

The contest was held at Middlebury. Although Proctor's entry did not win, the play was very popular with its audience, and the general feeling was that it would "go down well with posterity."

DISTRICT PLAY

The cast takes a break.

"It is time, Camilla, that you learned the facts of life."

I doubt that we've missed much, Lucy.
Stale jokes--and staler cigars.

Upper left--Edward, I-I have reason to think that someone is trying to poison us.

JUNIOR ONE-ACTS

Three junior-sponsored one-act plays were presented by the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes.

The sophomores' well-presented play, "The Lottery," won them top honors.

The juniors, giving a good try, presented "The Seeds of Suspicion." They became the second consecutive junior class to go winless.

The freshmen rounded out the evening with their entertaining presentation of "I'm a Fool."

Congratulations go to all who contributed to making the Junior One-Acts a success.

Left center--You had no right hiding him, Tessie!

Left--Quit staring at the rock and
think of something to say.

Psst! What's my next line?

Good night, Emily.

SENIOR PLAY

"Our Hearts were Young and Gay"

Upper right--A touching-up before the big performance.

The senior cast and crew

Carol Gollstrom, last year's Prom queen, presents flowers to Jackie Gallus, reigning '66 royalty.

What do they call this dance?

JUNIOR PROM

Tiptoe through the tulips . . .

The Queen and her court.

We never danced like that when we were young!

I shall not chew gum,
I shall not chew gum . . .

FRESHMAN RECEPTION

Opposite--"That's the hard way to get to Rutland!"

Lower left--"Slurp!"

Lower right--Where are the cherrios, fellas?

SPORTS

... and last but far from least the back-breaking, body-building sports ... with all the desire and work that can be mustered--win or lose--sports hold meaning for all, and for some reason are the best-remembered moments of past school days ...

ATHLETICS IS A CLASS CALLED "67"

Chuck and Eddy

Basketball team's best dribbler

It's power that counts.

Our southpaw pitching ace

Ouch!

Big Paul plays the game.

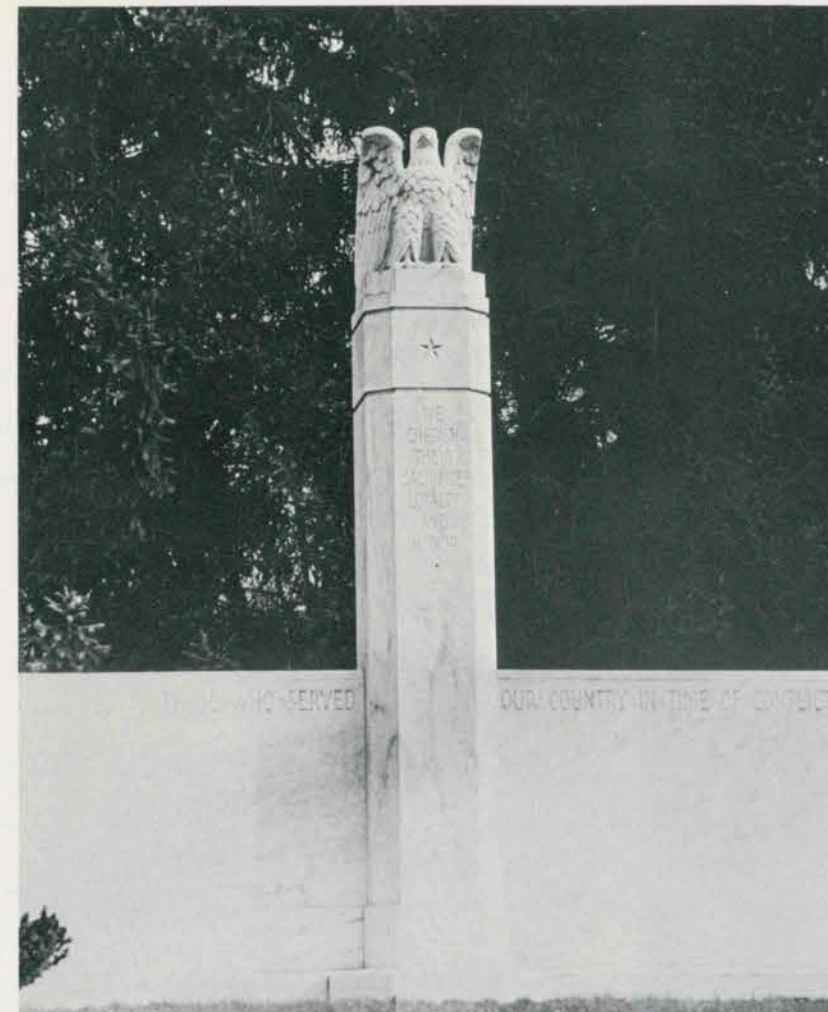

Thinking about a big soccer game?

How can they see the ball?

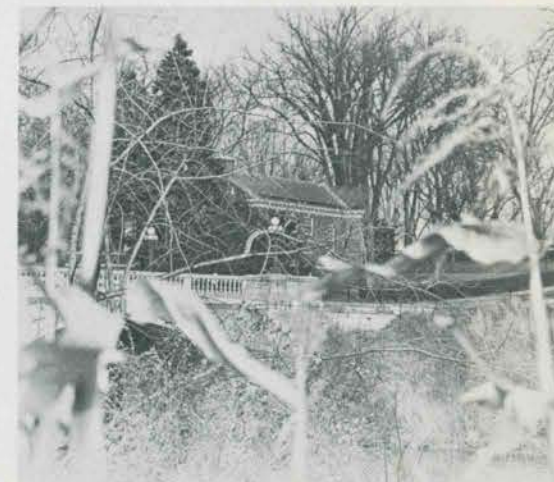

The hard way to play the game.

ADVERTISEMENTS

... but now a rich life far behind, a richer life to come --you slowly turn from what has passed to the future look . . . your eyes opened wide, your arms outstretched, you slowly feel your way until the day you find the goal for which you've searched so long--a life that is your very own . . .
